No property shall be placed on common grassy areas or sidewalks leading to the building or on, or under, stairways. In the common space where property is allowed, there shall be a walkway or passageway of no less than thirty-six (36) inches always maintained. The Association shall not be responsible for any damage to, or loss of, property placed by an owner in the common area even if Pointe Royale employees cause such damage, which could occur during routine maintenance. The owner assumes all risk, and by choosing to place items in the allowed common area, completely indemnifies, and hold harmless, the Condominium Owners' Association and Property Owners' Association, its Boards of Directors, Officers, Assigns and Employees. When an owner elects to place property in a common area, the owner no longer has the exclusive right to use, or control said property and any person might use said property. Any property placed on the Association's common areas that is not specifically allowed by this regulation may be removed immediately by Association personnel and the owner shall be fined $25. The type of personal property that may be placed by an owner in the common area space directly associated with the entrance of their unit shall be limited to one bench, flowerpots with drip pans, one set of outdoor patio furniture that shall consist of one table and no more than four chairs and one welcome mat. 9. REMOVING PROPERTY FROM COMMON AREAS.

When an item has been left in a common area and the Association has made a reasonable, but unsuccessful, effort to identify an owner, then the item will be tagged with a "Notice of Removal" and after three days the Association may record the condition of the property and remove it to the COA maintenance storage building where the property will be stored for no less than 30 days. At the end of the 30-day period, the General Manager will first notify the COA Board of Directors that the property will be disposed of and the method of disposal. If the owner of the property contacts the Association to reclaim their property, the owner will be charged, and the Association shall collect a $100 fine before the property shall be released. If the identified owner, then fails to pay the fine, the Association shall debit the owner's account for the $100 fine and if the owner has not removed their property by the end of the 30-day period, the Association may dispose of the property and the $100 fine shall be owed by the owner. If the Association identifies the owner of a property after removing the property from the common area, the said owner will be fined $100 whether the property is reclaimed and even if disposal of the property has already occurred.

10. CONDOMINIUM UNIT REPAIR POLICY

Reference paragraph 15(b) of the Condominium Declaration for Pointe Royale Condominium
Parcels I, II, and III:

The following policy will apply when repairs are required due to accidental damage and damage caused by "acts of God" within a condominium unit. However, under no circumstances shall this policy apply to damage resulting from Owner(s), owner's guests, visitors or tenant's negligence and such damage shall be the complete and total responsibility of the owner(s). The Condominium Owners' Association (COA) will provide insurance coverage and be responsible for repairing damage to all structures and materials beyond and up to the exterior of the wall and ceiling drywall covering within the unit and beyond and up to the exterior of any finished floor coverings within the unit.

The COA will also provide insurance coverage and be responsible for repairs on all items affixed to the inside or living area of the unit only when the cost to replace or repair those affixed items exceeds $25,000, or such amount as the COA from time-to-time may deem appropriate and after notification of such amount to all unit owners. Examples of affixed items would include, but not be limited to, wall/ceiling paint, wallpaper, cabinets, countertops, floor coverings that are glued, nailed or otherwise affixed to the floor in such a manner that they cannot be reasonably removed or moved in a quick and easy manner. Unit owners shall be completely and totally responsible for obtaining insurance to cover losses on such affixed items below the deductible of $25,000 and unit owners shall be responsible for the cost of such insurance and for any resulting costs created by not having such insurance or costs created by the deductible chosen by the unit owner(s).

Under no circumstances or conditions will the COA be responsible for damage, or the cost or repairs of such damage, for any items within the unit that are deemed personal items and do not meet the definition of affixed items as stated above. The COA will also not be responsible for upgrade costs of affixed items created when the unit owner(s), or past owner(s), elect to upgrade the original affixed items beyond the original material or quality of material that was in place at the time that the original unit owner(s) acquired the unit from the developer. As an example, if the unit originally had carpet as floor covering when purchased by the original owner(s) from the developer and was later replaced by a more expensive wood floor then the COA will only be responsible for a cost equal to replacing the floor covering with carpet and not the cost of a more expensive wood floor covering.

In the event of a break or leak of a water line to a condominium building or unit, the COA will not be responsible, under any circumstance, for any charges to the unit owner(s) from a third-party utility provider, including but not limited to any water bills. (Revision approved by the COA Board on June 23, 2018.)

11. POLICY FOR ENTRY INTO A CONDOMINIUM UNIT BY COA PERSONNEL

The COA Board of Directors understands the necessity of the Association retaining keys to each unit, as is required in the COA By-laws in Article XI, for the purpose of unit entry in case of emergencies and for access for necessary scheduled maintenance and repairs.

However, the Association also recognizes and must consider liability issues that can arise from the Association entering, or allowing entry, into a unit. The Association Directors cannot expose the Association to unnecessary liability even when such exposure may provide a convenience for owners. The Association cannot be responsible for determining the legitimacy of guests, contractors, vendors, lessees, etc. Additionally, since many units are in a nightly rental program or leased long-term, even an owner's demand to be given access into their unit, if provided by Association personnel, may be a violation of a lessee's rights and consequently make the Association culpable in an unlawful act.

Accordingly, the Association Board of Directors does hereby establish a policy that allows Association personnel to only unlock and enter a unit without advanced notice if there is an immediate maintenance emergency. A maintenance emergency is described as knowledge that the owner's property, or the Association's property are being damaged or destroyed and when it is evident that further damage may be mitigated or stopped by the immediate entry of Association personnel into the unit.

Association personnel will not unlock a unit for nightly rental guests, lessees, contractors, vendors, owners, etc. Owners will be responsible for planning or establishing necessary contingencies for allowing access into their units and will need to contact a locksmith if they or a guest do not have available keys or pass codes to gain entry.

When staff is required to enter a unit for non-emergency maintenance or repairs, the condominium supervisor will provide a minimum of 24 hours advance notice before entering a unit and such notice shall be made by posting a notice on the door of the unit and attempting to contact occupants in person or by phone.

It is the Association's policy that prior to entering a unit, staff personnel will knock on the unit door twice, ring the doorbell twice, at that point they open the door announcing their presence as "Condo Maintenance" twice. If at that point there is no response, then staff will announce they are entering the unit at least twice before entering.

While repairing units or after repairs are completed, a tag will be left inside the door notifying unit occupants that the staff is, or has been, in the unit.

12. A $50 fee will be charged for Resale Certificates when title is transferred.
13. A late fee of $25.00 per month will be charged on all accounts that are 30 days past due over a balance of $25.00.
14. A fee of $30 will be charged for any returned check or returned ACH (Auto Draft)
15. Rules for Nightly Rental Owners (Revision approved by the COA Board on January 27, 2024)
 - A. Owners and/or Managers must report, by building and unit number(s), all units being managed for the purpose of enrollment in the Nightly Rental Program to the POA office.
 - B. The owner/property manager of the property enrolled in the Nightly Rental Program must provide a current City of Branson Business License and a Taney County Merchant License to the POA office no later than April 20th of the current year for their property(ies). Both are required by statute to operate a nightly rental property within the City of Branson.
 1. Failure to provide these two current documents by April 20 will result in a loss of amenities for each of their property(ies) involved on that date. A discussion will be held with the owner regarding this and if these documents have not been made available to the POA office by April 30, a $1,000 fine will commence against the property. This fine and loss of amenities will continue monthly at the end of each month until the property is brought back into compliance.
 2. The owner of the property will have the right to appeal to the COA Board, via the General Manager, for extenuating circumstances/situations for a waiver of the loss of amenities and/or fines. This appeal is strongly encouraged prior to the loss of amenities taking place so it can be discussed at a regularly scheduled board meeting.
 3. Should the property owner sell their property and the new owner/property manager continue to use the property as a nightly rental, the business license and merchant license will need to be provided to the POA office by the new owner/property manager prior to operating the unit as a nightly rental.

C. The Nightly Rental Program Fee will be assessed in 2024 at a rate of $175/bedroom/condo on an annual basis with the total payment being due on April 1st.

1. The Nightly Rental Program Fee will be re-evaluated each year by a combined POA/COA Board meeting and approved by a full vote of the POA membership during each voting cycle with an approval gained through a simple majority vote.

2. The Nightly Rental Program Fee will be considered late after April 30th. Failure to pay the required balance in full by the due date will result in a loss of amenities. A discussion will be held with the owner regarding this and if a payment is still not made by the last day of the following month, a $1,000 fine will be applied. This fine and loss of amenities will continue monthly at the end of each month until the property is brought back into compliance.

3. Any owner has the right to remove their property from the Nightly Rental Program at any time. However, once the fee has been paid, it is not refundable or pro-rated under any terms.

4. The Nightly Rental Program Fee will be transferable with the sale of a property.

5. Should an owner remove their property from the Nightly Rental Program and is later found to continue to use their property as a nightly rental, a $1,000 fine will commence immediately and a loss of amenities for all their properties for 30 days will be assessed against the owner. A discussion will be had with the owner to explain the findings. This fine and loss of amenities will continue for every month thereafter should the owner continue to use their property as a nightly rental while remaining out of compliance. All collections efforts laid out in POA and COA By-Laws will be enforced.

18. Any damages caused to a condo unit by golf balls including panels on screened-in porches, windows, glass doors or any personal items will be the owner's responsibility to repair.

19. If it is necessary for the Association to make repairs to a unit/common area that is the responsibility of the owner, the owner will be notified prior to commencing the work and will be billed for cost incurred.

Section 6 of the Restrictive Covenants mandates that certain condominium owners may qualify for designated parking spaces pursuant to rules and conditions. The following rules and conditions were approved by the COA board on 4/29/2023:

1. Any condo owner RESIDING, (we define this as full time resident or primary residence) who shows a specific need for a conveniently located parking space MUST petition the COA board in writing. Reasons for the CLPS must be stated in full of evidence supporting the petition.
2. If granted, the resident must deposit $50.00 with PR for the construction of the sign. This deposit is nonrefundable.

The resident assumes the risk that the purchased CLPS may be used by an unauthorized vehicle. Maintaining the parking space means only that PR will install the markings, the lines and fix any irregularities in the parking space.
5. The resident is put on notice that the resident cannot enforce the CLPS by summoning authorities or by using self-help such as employing a tow truck to remove the offending vehicle or using another method to remove the offending vehicle. The resident is encouraged to contact the business office if an unauthorized vehicle is parked in the owner's CLPS.

6. An exception to enforcement is if another condo owner or his guest uses the CLPS. The offending owner is then subject to being fined by PR.
7. The sign designating the CLPS cannot be moved once it is placed.
8. The resident must return the sign if the resident moves or no longer needs the sign.
9. If any of the aforementioned rules are violated, the board may revoke the owner's CLPS. No refund of any kind will be given. No future CLPS will be assigned to the violating owner for two years.
